- We buy as many components from US manufacturers as possible.
- Sewing, assembly, quality control, and shipping of SleepPhones are all done in Pennsylvania.
- Our employees work from home, which allows them to be with their family and work whenever they want.
- We pay our employees double the minimum wage.
- We have donated to the National Sleep Foundation, Listen & Learn: Music for a Different Kind of Audience, Autism Speaks, and National Public Radio.
- The fleece headband is made of 88% recycled plastic bottles. The manufacturing of the fleece is done by Polartec® in Massachusetts then shipped directly to Pennsylvania.
- All of the electronics in the SleepPhones are RoHS compliant, which means that they are free of lead. They can be safely disposed.
- SleepPhones headquarters is powered by 100% wind energy.
- Streamlined operations in order to reduce waste. For example, the instruction booklets are printed two at a time so that there is minimal paper waste.
- Ink and toner cartridges are recycled.
- The SleepPhones packaging was carefully chosen to minimize materials and weight which uses less fuel to transport. We do not use packing peanuts. We reuse plastic balloons, bubbles, and boxes from our suppliers whenever possible.
- Almost all manufacturing waste is recycled (cardboard, office paper) or reused (leftover fabric).
- We decided to ship via USPS not only to save both the customer and us money, but also because the postal carrier has to make a trip to your work or residence anyway. FedEx, UPS, and DHL need to use gasoline getting the package to you.
- Computer equipment is on a smart strip so all peripherals automatically turn off when the computer is not on.
- Our employees work from home, so they do not have to drive to and from work every day. Nor do they have to drive their kids to day care.
- Our website hosting service is carbon neutral.
